

THE END

REPORT ON AGENT HERR SCHACH

I do not recommend HERR SCHACH fit for secret service!

1. He gave me the REAL evidence of the bomb locations without questioning who I was.
2. He couldn't find my clue as he left the pub. My red scarf was tied to the lamppost by the first alleyway and he missed it.
3. He was surprised I was a woman as he was expecting a man he didn't follow his instinct!
4. He didn't question how my English accent was so flawless when I was playing the part of German spy, Agent Nimmo.
5. Who has ever heard of a beer called Blue Skies! What if a real spy had been stalking him! So obvious!

AGENT FIFI

Congratulations!

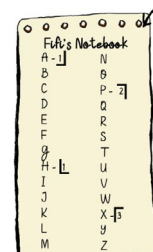

We hope you enjoyed The Mission of Agent ****
Would you like to continue completing missions?

If so, why not send your coded Secret Agent name you made up in Episode One: with a clue on how to crack your code like we gave you in Episode 4 in Fifi's notebook.

+

If our Gamesmasters can crack it (you will need to have a pattern to your code and give us a clue or two to help us), we will reward the first 10 successful Secret Agents with a 50% group discount and a further 25 successful Secret Agents with a 10% group discount to our partner escape rooms, Modern Fables for when we re-open.

Send your coded Secret Agent name and your alphabet secret code to crack to sally@tdlp.co.uk (can be sent as jpeg photos of handwritten notes as long as we can see it and please ask your parents or carers to send this on your behalf)

Thank you for playing!

Written by Tea Dance for Little People
Produced by Sally-Anne Donaldson
Illustrated and Designed by Elena Juzulenaite
Commissioned by Newham Council

Body Talking Ltd, 2020
www.tdlp.co.uk

